30 October 2009

Dear Honorable Delegates, Faculty, and Friends,

It is with great enthusiasm that we welcome you to the 2009 National Model United Nations•DC Conference. We offer each of you our sincerest welcome to our nation's capital.

NMUN•DC is, first and foremost, an educational experience. Through this hands-on approach, you will gain leadership, speaking, writing and teamwork skills as well as a global perspective on world problems. The nature of this active involvement in learning allows students to witness the consequences of their decisions and actions. We hope that you utilize this opportunity to deeply engage with important international issues, learn from each other's experiences, and examine the current global situation. Throughout the weekend, take time to consider the power of the United Nations and its impact on individuals around the world. Most importantly, reflect on the future of the United Nations and your role as an engaged member of the international community.

Washington, DC provides a unique environment in which to consider these issues. In addition to being the seat of power of the United States government, Washington is home to many influential international bodies, including the World Bank, the Pan American Health Organization, and the International Monetary Fund. We encourage you to take advantage of all aspects of this conference, including the location, the knowledge of the volunteer staff, and the shared experiences of our distinguished guest speakers.

Once again, we extend a warm welcome to both new and returning delegates. Although the task ahead may seem daunting to some, we want to reassure you that our staff will provide the respect, attention and resources necessary to assist you. We hope you will leave with a renewed sense of purpose and a greater appreciation for the United Nations. We urge you to be proactive this weekend and after, by using dialogue to empower others to serve the common good.

Warmest regards,

Can a conference
change
the world?

Imagine how

National Model United Nations is the world's largest college-level conference of its kind. We bring together 4,000 students from across the globe to address a wide range of contemporary international issues. Participants leave with the insights needed to become better global citizens and the next generation of international leaders. Students develop an appreciation of differing viewpoints, the frustration of negotiation, the rewards of cooperation, and a broader view of the human side of international relations and diplomacy.

Although the NMUN recognizes the potential of awards to foster competition rather than collaboration in its simulation, awards will continue to be offered in response to requests by the majority of participating schools. The Secretariat selects recipients based on the criteria and methodology outlined below. No one can observe every action in committee or truly judge an individual's learning and growth. We believe participation in the simulation is its own reward. It advances understanding of the UN and contemporary international issues, and it has changed the lives of many delegates. We urge all delegates and their faculty advisors to maintain an appropriate perspective regarding the awards. The fundamental basis of the simulation is collaboration and cooperation among nations, which includes working together through multilateral diplomacy. There are, therefore, no winners and certainly no losers in this process.

DELEGATION AWARDS |

The National Model United Nations Conference has established criteria for evaluating delegate performance. Each element is equally important to the overall awards determination process. All committees are weighted equally, and delegations are rated on a mathematical formula in relation to the total number of committees represented by the individual Member State.

Areas of evaluation are:

- Remaining in character – defined as advocating your assigned country's position in a manner consistent with economic, social and geopolitical constraints.
- Participating in committee – evaluated both during formal sessions and caucusing.
- Proper use of the rules of procedure – NMUN uses the rules of procedure to facilitate effective workings of committee and debate.

COMMITTEE AWARDS |

A majority of faculty surveyed in Fall 2005 indicated a desire for individual committee awards in addition to overall delegation awards. The survey results favored balloting by delegate peers. When voting for their peers, NMUN asks delegates to keep in mind that the conference believes outstanding delegates are those who cooperate and stay in the policy/character of their assigned member state. Yelling, standing on chairs and other examples of unprofessional behavior are not characteristics of model diplomats. Recipients will be announced at the final committee session.

A full description of criteria are available at www.nmun.org/dc_recognition.html

SEXUAL HARASSMENT / DISCRIMINATION POLICY |

It is the intention of the NCCA and Osgood Center (organizers) that the environment of the National Model United Nations (NMUN) supports our educational goal. The organizers will not tolerate any instances of discrimination based on race, color, sex, sexual orientation, national origin, religion, age or handicapping condition. If any delegate, staff or faculty member believes they have encountered discrimination, which results in a hostile working environment or disparate treatment, they must bring it to the attention of the Secretary-General of the conference. In the event that this is not possible, they must bring it to the attention of the organizers. The Secretary-General and a member or members of the organizers' Board must investigate the merits of the allegations, interviewing all parties involved.

Based on the investigation findings, NMUN may:

- take no action
- issue a verbal reprimand
- separate the individual from the conference
- implement any other action deemed appropriate

DRESS CODE |

All clothing must adhere to guidelines that portray professionalism and modesty. If a delegate's attire is deemed inappropriate by the NMUN staff, the delegate will be asked to leave the session and return with appropriate attire.

- Standard delegate attire for the conference is business jacket, slacks (or skirts for women), dress shirt (with tie for men) and dress shoes.
- Dress sweaters, shorts, ball caps, jeans, sneakers and sunglasses are considered too casual. Clothes that expose excessive bare skin or are otherwise revealing are inappropriate.
- It is not appropriate for delegates to display any national symbols such as flags, pins, crests, etc. on their person during sessions. UN symbols are acceptable.

Western business dress is preferred. Traditional dress is only permitted for international delegates in whose native countries "professional business dress" includes traditional cultural dress. NMUN will not tolerate any delegate's attempt to portray a "character" using traditional cultural attire as costume.

As role models for delegates, volunteer staff, faculty advisors and guests are required to dress in western business attire while participating in scheduled conference sessions.

DELEGATES |

While participating in the National Model UN conference, delegates have a responsibility to always maintain the highest level of professionalism and diplomacy. Conference staff, faculty, and fellow delegates, should always be treated with the highest level of courtesy and respect. Professionalism in speech, actions, and appearance on behalf of delegates is a requirement of this conference, and necessary to its educational mission. It is assumed that all delegates will respect the property of the United Nations and the host hotels.

NMUN reserves the right to restrict future registration for any participant or school, whose delegates or faculty are not able to uphold their responsibility to the conference's code of conduct.

Delegates are expected to:

- Remain "in character" by consistently advocating the interests and representing the policies of the country assigned. To act "in character" also entails displaying respect for the opinions and ideals of fellow delegates, even if these opinions and ideals conflict with a given delegate's own country priorities.

- Collaborate with fellow delegates where possible.
- Conduct themselves in a courteous and professional manner at all times.

1. Excessive alcohol consumption should be avoided.
2. The consumption of alcohol and other drugs in committee sessions is forbidden.
3. Any issues related to illicit drugs will be immediately directed to the attention of New York City authorities.
4. Delegates who disrupt committee sessions or create problems in the hotel may be barred from further participation in the conference.

Delegates are encouraged to enjoy the variety of nighttime activities available in New York. Please bear in mind, however, the purpose of your participation in NMUN.

HEAD DELEGATES |

Head delegates provide leadership to their delegates and to other delegations by serving as information resources. They should attend and participate in head delegate meetings. Head delegates may be assigned to a committee or may serve solely in an advisory role. Head delegates assigned to a committee should observe the delegate code of conduct. Those not assigned to a particular committee should interact with delegates as would a faculty advisor.

FACULTY |

The role of faculty, while at the conference, is to make all efforts to see that their students maintain a positive and professional approach to the conference. The educational quality of the conference is primarily dependent on all delegates' active and professional participation. Faculty can ensure this by monitoring their students' attendance at committee meetings, and helping them in understanding the skills of diplomacy as practiced at the National Model UN conference. Faculty advisors must maintain the highest level of professionalism toward all conference participants and staff.

During the conference, faculty are encouraged to advise students on specific questions such as a state's policy or issues of international law, but must not participate in the actual writing of resolutions or caucusing activities. The NMUN conference allows students an opportunity to demonstrate their preparation and research skills. While faculty members are encouraged to observe their students from the back of committee rooms, participation in the committee process must be left to the student delegates and the conference staff.

Faculty members are expected to:

- Provide leadership to their delegates and to other delegations by serving as information resources, where appropriate.
- Respond to questions and concerns without interfering with the work of the committees or the deliberations of delegates, whether in formal session or in caucus.
- Refrain from using academic credit and grading policies that force participation beyond that country's normal position in the UN.
- Remind their delegates of the educational purpose of the simulation. Awards should not be a delegation's main emphasis.
- Attend and participate in faculty meetings.
- Offer suggestions and assistance to new faculty members.

PREMIER SHORT-TERM PROGRAMS IN THE HEART OF WASHINGTON, DC

INTERNATIONAL LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE

January 3 - 14, 2010

The International Leadership Conference is an annual event at the Osgood Center, designed to train students in leadership techniques and introduce them to political, religious, business and media leaders who share their insights to leadership, problem solving and personal growth. An important component of the Leadership Conference is the site visits to the U.S. Congress, White House, State Department, embassies and Smithsonian institutions.

THE GREAT AMERICAN FOREIGN POLICY DECISION GAME

January 15 - 26, 2010

This course is a simulation game addressing the critical issues in American Foreign Policy. Participants are divided into various US institutions (State Department, DOD, Congress, etc), briefed on these agencies' roles, on the current issues in foreign policy, and then led through a simulated National Security exercise. Prior to the simulation, the participants will visit the institutions they will simulate and will hear expert analyses. The Game will take place on the last three days of the program.

STUDENT NPT REVIEW CONFERENCE

March 18 - 21, 2010

The Student NPT Review Conference is the Osgood Center's inaugural Arms Control Conference. Students will have the opportunity to simulate the 2010 NPT Review Conference two months before it convenes. In addition to Committee resolutions, there will be a Conference Final Statement written by a Drafting Committee of students selected at the conference. The Department of State's Bureau of International Security and Nonproliferation will make these documents available to the US Delegation to the 2010 Nonproliferation Treaty.

Power is Shifting to the East. Are you?

The rise of Asia is changing the world. By 2025 it is estimated that Asia will be home to three of the five largest economies in the world. Situated in the heart of Asia, the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, a graduate school of the National University of Singapore (NUS), ranked amongst the Top 30 universities globally*, provides unique insights into the world's most dynamic region.

Partnering with the Best

The LKY School is the first Asian school to be admitted into the prestigious Global Public Policy Network (GPPN) set up by Columbia University's School of International & Public Affairs (SIPA), the London School of Economics & Political Science (LSE) and the Institut d'Etudes Politiques de Paris (Sciences Po). The school offers its students a unique opportunity to gain a double Masters degree with one of its GPPN partners.

Networking with the Next Generation of Global Leaders

Our students who come from all over the globe are ambassadors, senators, editors, social entrepreneurs, and aspiring leaders who are on the ground making a difference.

Asian Focus

The school has a distinct Asian focus and currently offers three exclusive graduate programmes: Master in Public Policy (2 years aimed at young professionals), Master in Public Administration (1 year targeting mid-career managers), and Master in Public Management (1 year for senior managers in the public and private sector).

Fully Funded Scholarships

The school offers a truly global classroom experience with more than 330 students from 51 countries. Most international students come on fully funded scholarships provided by the school.

If you are an aspiring leader or policymaker looking for globally recognised credentials, apply now for a Master in Public Policy or Master in Public Administration.

To learn more about our programmes, visit www.lkyspp.nus.edu.sg or email: lkyspp@nus.edu.sg or call (+65) 6516 6134.

The application deadline for enrollment in July 2010 is 31 January 2010.

NYU'S CENTER FOR
AFFAIRS

The traditional state-to-state mindset may be at odds with the realities of our increasingly globalized planet.

Today, both an appreciation of the world's great challenges and the ability to create meaningful change require global perspective. Our duty as citizens of the world is to be more broadly educated and more resolutely committed to action than ever before.

The NYU Center for Global Affairs is a unique institution based in lower Manhattan, at the crossroads of the world. We provide a range of exceptional educational opportunities, including a master's degree, a professional certificate program, and provocative public events all focused on global issues and designed to confront the challenges each of us faces as a global citizen.

Our diverse and motivated students are led by a faculty of accomplished international practitioners with experience drawn from government, trade, finance, journalism, non-governmental organizations, and more. Careers with a global dimension have never been more challenging, rewarding, or in demand. Find out how the NYU Center for Global Affairs can shape your global future.

In this new second edition, Linda Fasulo, a longtime independent correspondent for NPR, provides a lively, comprehensive, and authoritative guide to the United Nations, featuring candid insights from leading US and UN diplomats and officials.

“Fasulo brings to the fore the issues and controversies that surround today’s United Nations, adeptly simplifying without dumbing down.”

—Ambassador Joseph H. Melrose, Jr., President, Board of Directors, National Model UN

“Linda Fasulo’s book will become the indispensable source on the United Nations for everyone from students to diplomats. I keep it handy on my desk.”

—Joseph S. Nye, Kennedy School of Government, Harvard University

“An excellent introduction to the work of the U.N. and a valuable tool for anyone who wants to understand the complexities of the Organization in a clear and highly readable style.”

—Heraldo Munoz, Ambassador of Chile to the United Nations
