“As a woman I am deeply affected when I hear about or witness gender inequality. This poster depicts two hands, one male and one female, that together create a bird with equal wings, letting it fly freely.” -- Ani Gevorgian, Cover Artist, www.geistdesign.com

ABOUT THE COVER: This artwork was part of a series of posters created by Art Center College of Design students in commemoration of the 60th Anniversary of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

UNITED NATIONS

NATIONS UNIES

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

MESSAGE TO

THE NATIONAL MODEL UNITED NATIONS CONFERENCE

New York, 5-11 April 2009

The word “model” has a number of meanings. In the context of the model United Nations, it is commonly understood as “a small copy”. But I prefer another of its meanings: “a praiseworthy example to be copied”.

People often criticize young people for their idealism, or even try to talk them out of it. But I think idealism is one of your strengths. Without it, we would have a far more difficult time imagining and building a better world.

Idealism is also a big part of what animates the United Nations. When the Organization was established in 1945, the world was reeling from a destructive period of warfare that had touched the lives of just about everyone on the planet. Those who drafted the UN Charter were determined to prevent any recurrence of such atrocities and upheaval. They wanted to see a new international consciousness emerge from the ashes – one grounded in human rights and peaceful coexistence. They too were idealists, but at the same time understood the need, bred of recent experience, to erect safeguards against human cruelty.

The past six decades have not been easy. There have been major advances in the human condition. But war and poverty still plague our world. And we can all sense the perils of the present moment, as a global economic crisis and the gathering force of climate change combine to threaten our future well-being.

As you participate in this Model United Nations, you will get a taste for the complexity of international relations. This exercise is no empty role play. Half the world’s population is under 25. You are their representatives. Many of you will move on to positions of real leadership. All of you, by your choices as consumers, by your decisions as voters, will assume real power to shape and change our world.

I encourage you to keep in mind both meanings of the word “model”. I urge you to pursue the solutions that depend on imagination and courage, consensus and compromise. Hopefully your time at this Model United Nations will help you become the models the world needs to fulfil the ideals of this indispensable organization.

Ban Ki-moon

THE 2009 NATIONAL MODEL UNITED NATIONS

SPONSORED BY THE NATIONAL COLLEGIATE CONFERENCE ASSOCIATION

New York City, 5 - 9 April & 7- 11 April

www.nmun.org

Spring 2009

Dear Honorable Delegates, Faculty, Staff and Friends,

On behalf of the Volunteer Secretariat for the 2009 National Model United Nations Conference, I warmly welcome you to New York City. This meeting of delegates with diverse backgrounds, interests, and nationalities presents limitless opportunities for the development of new friendships, new ideas, and new ways of seeing the world.

Over the past year, the NMUN Secretariat and our sponsor, the National Collegiate Conference Association (NCCA), has excitedly prepared for your arrival. Our organization takes tremendous pride in facilitating an educational experience unlike any other. Participation in this simulation represents a unique opportunity for delegates, faculty advisors, and staff alike. As you gather together with over 4,000 college and university students from five continents, we encourage each and every one of you to ignite in each other the spirit of cooperation and passion for building a stronger international community that is the basis for the work of the United Nations.

As you expertly represent your Member State, Observer State or NGO we look forward to witnessing rigorous debate on the most pressing issues and challenges facing our world. Diplomacy, like in the real UN, must be the foundation of our week together. Building consensus through negotiation, deliberation and compromise is the cornerstone of our mission.

Undoubtedly, your extensive preparation equipped you for the challenges of a simulation of this magnitude. The numerous topics to be discussed are relevant in our increasingly interdependent world. Many of the issues on the agenda are linked together with the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs). As we move beyond the halfway point for the 2015 deadline for meeting the MDGs, our discussions on poverty, trade, hunger, health, peace, security, and universal education carry considerable weight. Millions of people live in extreme poverty, yet we have the resources to make significant gains in the battle against this pervasive problem.

We are each responsible to raise global awareness about the United Nations and its mission. As you participate in your respective committee, I entreat you to not only think and work deliberately in writing resolutions and working papers, but also to act thoughtfully on the issues discussed this week long after the conference concludes. While there are many hurdles to ending widespread poverty, the history of the United Nations proves that, collectively, we can achieve great things.

Once again, I welcome you to the 2009 National Model United Nations Conference. I sincerely hope this event is an enriching and wonderful educational experience. As you depart New York City at the end of our week together, I hope you return home with a renewed sense of purpose and a true appreciation for what it means to be a global citizen.

Enjoy the conference! If there is anything we can do to make your experience better, do not hesitate to ask.

Warmest Regards,

Jennifer Hathaway Spalding
Secretary-General, 2009 National Model United Nations Conference

The NCCA-NMUN is a Non-Governmental Organization associated with the United Nations and a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization of the United States.

ABOUT | ncca + nmun

The Organization and Its Work

For more than 40 years, the National Collegiate Conference Association has sponsored experience-based educational programs like NMUN that further the understanding of the United Nations and contemporary international problems.

NMUN•NY 2009 will bring more than 4,000 delegates from five continents to New York City. This conference includes more than 20 committees as well as a Security Council for unaffiliated delegates. NMUN has hosted such renowned and respected speakers as H.E. Mr. Ban Ki-moon, H.E. Mr. Kofi Annan and H.E. Mr. Boutros Boutros-Ghali.

NMUN offers a unique opportunity for students to better understand the inner workings of the United Nations while building skills in diplomacy and compromise. College students and faculty from all over the world work feverishly to propose resolutions addressing regional conflicts, peacekeeping, human rights, women and children, economic and social development, and the environment. A diverse group of informed participants is given a forum in which to discuss global concerns in a context that closely parallels the "real world." The NMUN Conference is one of the most effective tools for teaching students the dynamics of multilateral diplomacy and international relations.

The National Collegiate Conference Association (NCCA) is a 501(c)3 nonprofit, educational corporation. The NCCA is also a Non-Governmental Organization associated with the United Nations Department of Public Information.

ONE SUNNY DAY, A CHILD’S MEMORY OF HIROSHIMA
By Hideko Tamura Snider - NMUN•NY 2009 Guest Speaker

One Sunny Day is Hideko Tamura Snider’s vivid account of her memories of the Hiroshima bomb and its aftermath. In this eloquent and moving narrative, she explores her struggle to find meaning in the absurd reality of war and the dawn of the atomic age. “Hideko Tamura Snider, a survivor of the destruction that befell Hiroshima in 1945, has written a book of beauty, tenderness and love, a filtration of facts and circumstances in the mind of a 9-year-old Japanese girl.”--Associated Press

The National Collegiate Conference Association prepares college students to be better global citizens. These experiences are valuable for student delegates and faculty advisors. However, financial constraints often are a barrier to participation for both student participants and volunteer staff members.

We invite contributions from individuals and foundations. For U.S. residents, your donation is tax deductible as a charitable contribution. The NCCA is a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization and a non-governmental organization of the United Nations. Visit www.nmun.org to learn more online.

VOLUNTEER | get involved

WHY VOLUNTEER?

- Build your résumé! — We offer publishing credit for the written background materials and professional experience organizing and staffing the world's largest university-level simulation of the United Nations.
- Build skills in facilitation of debate, conflict resolution, and customer service while learning alongside delegates about emerging global issues.
- Form lifelong friendships with other volunteers.

WHO VOLUNTEERS?

We seek enthusiastic NMUN alumni from around the world willing to help organize future NMUNs. Many staff members are current undergraduate or graduate students.

TO APPLY: CLICK ON 'VOLUNTEER' at WWW.NMUN.ORG

NMUN needs staff to research topics, facilitate committees and help to organize the conference.

NMUN offers training, provides New York hotel accommodations and helps pay for travel expenses (based on zones).

Becoming a part of the NMUN staff experience does not only mean contribution and reward; it represents success. The research skills one acquires with NMUN guided me throughout graduate school. The leadership skills one develops with NMUN provided me confidence to work in Central America & West Africa. The networking opportunities one receives with NMUN offered me internship possibilities with the U.S. Department of State and the U.S. Agency for International Development. Perhaps the most significant reward one receives while serving at NMUN is working alongside the bright minds and dedicated staff that makes NMUN the prestigious conference that it is. When it comes down to it, there is no other place I rather be than volunteering at NMUN each spring and educating those students in your committee who are eager to learn about the inner workings of the United Nations.

- Mike Aguilar
2003-2006 Delegate;
2007-2009 Volunteer Staff Member

Be part of an international volunteer staff committed to the ideals of the United Nations!

Opinion formation.

Economic statecraft.

Public diplomacy.

Military strategy.

Counter-intelligence.

Political warfare.

Like the instruments of an orchestra, the instruments of statecraft must be conducted in harmony with each other to serve the national interest.

The Institute of World Politics is the only graduate school in the world dedicated to teaching the ethical, integrated use of all the instruments of statecraft.

Statesmanship.

PREMIER SHORT-TERM PROGRAMS IN THE HEART OF WASHINGTON, DC

INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS CONFERENCE
July 19 – 30, 2009

The International Business Conference (IBC) is a ten-day exploration of the international political economy. Participants will visit leading international institutions in Washington, DC such as the World Bank, the IMF, the Inter-American Development Bank, and the leading Congressional Committees on trade and international economics. They will address issues in international economics such as the international financial crisis, creeping protectionism, the rise of China and India, and the persistence of poverty in a globalized world. A special feature of the IBC 2009 will include a keynote address by the US Special Representative on Trade, Ron Kirk.

- MAIN FEATURES OF THE CONFERENCE
- Exploration of international political economy
 - Visits to leading international institutions in Washington, DC such as the World Bank, the IMF, the Inter-American Development Bank, Institute for International Economics
 - Hearing from Think Tank experts on economy

SUMMER SYMPOSIUM ON FOREIGN POLICY
August 2 – 13, 2009

- Focus is on current "hot topics" in International Relations. Students from all over the world visit the principal U.S. foreign policy decision-making bodies, think tanks, and important embassies to gain insight on the topics and explore the possible solutions to current crises.
- The Symposium features presentations and discussions on current critical issues in U.S. foreign policy, such as:
- Arms Control Diplomacy
 - The Middle East
 - U.S.-Russian Relations
 - International Economic Policy
 - China, East Asia and Foreign Policy issues in the New Era
- The 2009 Summer Symposium on "US Foreign Policy in Transition: America's New Challenge" will feature presentations and discussions on current critical issues in U.S. foreign policy.

The United Nations Annual Global Model UN Conference

The United Nations Department of Public Information is organizing the first annual Global Model United Nations Conference which will be held in Geneva, Switzerland, from 5 - 7 August 2009. The conference will be a simulation of General Assembly plenary sessions and the Assembly's Main Committees. The theme of the 2009 conference will be "The Millennium Development Goals: Lifting the Bottom Billion out of Poverty." More than 1,000 university-level students, ages 18 to 24 at the time of the conference, will be invited from Member States where Model United Nations programmes are currently organized. The students will be selected through a fair and competitive selection process.

RECOGNIZING | commitment

RECOGNIZING COMMITMENT TO THE NATIONAL MODEL UNITED NATIONS

Here we recognize those institutions for which participation is a school tradition. The long-term support of these schools reflects the hard work and dedication of faculty, students and administrators. It shows commitment to experiential learning opportunities like NMUN as well as the ideals embodied by the United Nations.

The NCCA, sponsor of the NMUN, is greatly indebted to many of these schools and their faculty for their leadership in continuing to enhance the conference.

We look forward to welcoming more schools to this listing in the future as new institutions start a NMUN tradition and returning schools continue to build a legacy.

Shaping the Pacific Century

University of California, San Diego School of International Relations & Pacific Studies

San Diego is uniquely located on the Pacific Ocean, sharing the busiest border crossing in the world with Tijuana, Mexico, and rapidly becoming one of the most important economic centers of the Pacific region.

One of ten campuses in the world-renowned University of California system, UC San Diego is ranked among the top 10 best public universities in the nation, receiving top-ten rankings for our International Relations and International Public Policy programs.

At the center of UC San Diego's international studies is the School of International Relations and Pacific Studies (IR/PS). IR/PS faculty and innovative curriculum provide students enrolled in our Master's and Executive Education programs with a unique blend of three professional school traditions — international relations, public policy, and management — and knowledge for leadership in the Pacific Century.

AWARDS PHILOSOPHY |

Although the NMUN recognizes the potential of awards to foster competition rather than collaboration in its simulation, awards will continue to be offered in response to requests by the majority of participating schools. The Secretariat selects recipients based on the criteria and methodology outlined at www.nmun.org/awards.htm. No one can observe every action in committee or truly judge an individual's learning and growth. We believe participation in the simulation is its own reward. It advances understanding of the UN and contemporary international issues, and it has changed the lives of many delegates. We urge all delegates and their faculty advisors to maintain an appropriate perspective regarding the awards. The fundamental basis of the simulation is collaboration and cooperation among nations, which includes working together through multilateral diplomacy. There are, therefore, no winners and certainly no losers in this process.

DELEGATION AWARDS |

NMUN recognizes overall delegation performance across all committees with award certificates for Outstanding, Distinguished and Honorable Mention delegations. Delegates in committee are evaluated each session on their skills at: (a) remaining 'in character'; (b) participation in formal sessions and caucus; and (c) proper use of rules of procedure. Using these criteria, a predetermined number (generally 10% of each committee) are recorded as outstanding delegate(s) in a particular session and committee. A delegation's overall score is the number of times it receives committee recognition for a session divided by the number of overall opportunities.

Visit www.nmun.org/awards.htm for a complete explanation of how NMUN defines the skills evaluated and the methodology for computing the award scores.

COMMITTEE AWARDS |

Selected by popular vote of committee delegates (number based on size of committee), NMUN offers between two and five committee awards in each committee. When voting for their peers, NMUN asks delegates to keep in mind that outstanding delegates are those who cooperate and stay in the policy/character of their assigned member state. Yelling, standing on chairs and other examples of unprofessional behavior are not characteristics of model diplomats.

POSITION PAPER AWARDS |

Additionally, NMUN presents Position Paper Awards in recognition of outstanding pre-conference preparation. A detailed explanation of the criteria used by the conference staff to evaluate position papers is available at www.nmun.org/awards.htm.

POLICIES | procedures

CONFERENCE SERVICES PROCEDURE |

1. A maximum of TWO delegates will be allowed in Conference Services to work on each resolution at any one time. Delegates are expected to write their resolutions outside of the lab, and bring them in for typing or revision.

[NOTE: Delegates are generally seated on a first-come, first-served basis. Delegates from committees not already working at a computer in the lab will be given preference when the lab is full. The USG for Conference Services reserves the authority to grant an earlier place in line to a delegate.]
2. There will be NO FOOD AND/OR BEVERAGES allowed in Conference Services.
3. Internet resources are only for research use. Delegates will not be permitted to check their e-mail.
4. Delegates entering Conference Services must register at the door and leave their delegate badge in order to use the computers. Once a delegate has finished typing, s/he should print and save the resolution according to the posted guidelines. S/he will then be able to retrieve the delegate badge on the way out.
5. Photocopies will be made for the delegates at a charge of $.10 per copy. Working papers and resolutions approved by the Director of the committee will be copied free of charge.

SEXUAL HARRASSMENT & DISCRIMINATION POLICY |

It is the intention of the National Collegiate Conference Association (NCCA) that the environment of the National Model United Nations (NMUN) best achieve our educational goal. The NCCA will not tolerate any instances of discrimination based on race, color, sex, sexual orientation, national origin, religion, age or handicapping condition.

If any delegate, volunteer staff or faculty member believes they have encountered discrimination, which results in a hostile working environment or disparate treatment, they must bring it to the attention of the Secretary-General of the conference. In the event that this is not possible, they must bring it to the attention of the Executive Director or the President of the NCCA Board.

The Secretary-General and a member or members of the NCCA Board must investigate the merits of the allegations, interviewing all parties involved.

Based on the investigation findings, NMUN may:

- take no action
- issue a verbal reprimand
- separate the individual from the conference
- implement any other action deemed appropriate

DRESS CODE |

All clothing must adhere to guidelines that portray professionalism and modesty. If a delegate's attire is deemed inappropriate by the NMUN staff, the delegate will be asked to leave the session and return with appropriate attire.

- Standard delegate attire for the conference is business jacket, slacks (or skirts for women), dress shirt (with tie for men) and dress shoes.
- Dress sweaters, shorts, ball caps, jeans, sneakers and sunglasses are considered too casual. Clothes that expose excessive bare skin or are otherwise revealing are inappropriate.
- It is not appropriate for delegates to display any national symbols such as flags, pins, crests, etc. on their person during sessions. UN symbols are acceptable.

Western business dress is preferred. Cultural dress is only permitted for international delegates in whose native countries "professional business dress" includes traditional cultural dress. NMUN will not tolerate any delegate's attempt to portray a "character" using traditional cultural attire as costume.

AMERICAN MODEL UNITED NATIONS

TWENTY YEARS OF IMAGINING A MORE PEACEFUL TOMORROW

Model UN in a Box:

Our newly revised simulation kit provides tools for Faculty Advisors and student leaders to teach others about the Model UN experience. This includes details on how to run a class, write resolutions, caucusing exercises, and more. This kit provides all the materials you need to simulate the General Assembly, the Economic and Social Council, and the Security Council.

United Nations Video Series:

In conjunction with the Ambassador's Club at the United Nations, AMUN is proud to offer five different videos on the internal workings of the United Nations. Discover the UN anew with interviews from ambassadors and secretariat members. Our first tape deals with the mechanics of UN diplomacy. Our other tapes take an in-depth look at some of the issues the UN faces every year. These educational tapes are great for the classroom too.

IT'S YOUR WORLD MAKE A DIFFERENCE

Please enjoy the 2009 NMUN conference. Best wishes from our conference to yours.

TRAVEL SAFETY | tips

TRAVEL SAFETY TIPS — MODEL UN VERSION• NY |

1. Bring spending money. New York is an expensive city. Watch out for “Tourist Trap” stores and street sales, especially in Times Square. You do not want to purchase rip-offs of name brand merchandise. Remember to keep some cash in reserve in the event of an emergency.
2. Do not wear your delegate badges outside of the hotel or the UN. They are a sign that you’re a tourist and that you are potentially vulnerable.
3. New York City is generally safe, but you should avoid flashing cash at an ATM machine or on the street, being alone in an elevator with someone you feel uncomfortable with (start a conversation and make eye contact so they know you will recognize their face), and sitting or standing in a subway near the doors where you are more vulnerable to theft.
4. Hair up in a ponytail can be a handle pulled by an assailant. If needing to defend yourself, use an elbow (strongest bone) or pinch the tricep (painful).
5. Your delegation should arrange for a meeting place outside of and away from the hotel in the event of an emergency. Consider carrying a small flashlight. Develop a telephone tree (calling list) using cell phone numbers so that you can inform others in group of a problem.
6. Be aware of your surroundings and be alert. People talking on cell phones or listening to iPods are more frequently attacked because they are unaware of what is happening around them.
7. If someone attempts to rob you by asking for your wallet do not hand it to them. Instead toss it away from you and run. The chances are that they will be more interested in the money than chasing you.
8. If you bring a computer, remember you are responsible for its security.
9. In the hotel, make sure you know where the exits are on your floor in the event of a fire or another emergency. In the event of a fire, do not panic. Follow these steps:
 - Do not use any elevator in a fire;
 - Call the front desk and tell them what is going on;
 - Call 911 and report the fire even if you are able to contact the front desk;
 - If you cannot get out of your room, do not open the windows wide or break them. This could cause more smoke and fire to enter your room. Instead, open the windows a tiny bit if possible;
 - Seal cracks with wet towels and/or sheets from your room. Smoke inhalation kills more people than fire;
 - Do not jump out of the windows.
10. Do not drink alcohol excessively or at all. NMUN has strict rules regarding personal behavior. There is no drinking in committee sessions. The legal drinking age in New York is 21 years of age.
11. Remember that there are other non-NMUN guests in the hotel. NMUN neither sanctions nor will tolerate offensive behavior by delegates, e.g., partying in rooms/hallways/staircases, loud, crude, and obnoxious talk and behavior, etc. The NMUN has a long and proud history, and we value our relationship with our hotels and with the United Nations. We will ask you to leave the conference, and we will notify your college or university if your behavior is inappropriate.
12. Do have a good time. If you give yourself a chance, you will find this experience to be truly rewarding.
13. Do participate. NMUN is not an opportunity to ‘shop until you drop’ or a spring break vacation. Be on time for committee sessions and attend all of them. NMUN is potentially a life-changing experience. Take full advantage.

CODE | conduct

DELEGATES |

While participating in the National Model UN conference, delegates have a responsibility to always maintain the highest level of professionalism and diplomacy. Conference staff, faculty, and fellow delegates should always be treated with the highest level of courtesy and respect. Professionalism in speech, actions, and appearance on behalf of delegates is a requirement of this conference and necessary to its educational mission. It is assumed that all delegates will respect the property of the United Nations and the host hotels.

The NCCA reserves the right to restrict future registration for any participant or school, whose delegates or faculty are not able to uphold their responsibility to the conference’s code of conduct.

Delegates are expected to:

- Remain “in character” at all times by consistently advocating the interests and representing the policies of the country assigned. To act “in character” also entails displaying respect for the opinions and ideas of fellow delegates, even if these opinions and ideas conflict with a given delegate’s own country priorities.
 - Collaborate with fellow delegates where possible.
 - Conduct themselves in a courteous and professional manner at all times:
1. Excessive alcohol consumption should be avoided. The legal drinking age in New York is 21.
 2. The consumption of alcohol and other drugs in committee sessions is forbidden.
 3. Any issues related to illicit drugs will be immediately directed to the attention of New York City authorities.
 4. Delegates who disrupt committee sessions or create problems in the hotel may be barred from further participation in the conference.

Delegates are encouraged to enjoy the variety of nighttime activities available in New York. Please bear in mind, however, that the purpose of your being here is to participate in NMUN.

HEAD DELEGATES |

Head delegates provide leadership to their delegates and to other delegations by serving as information resources. They should attend and participate in head delegate meetings. Head delegates may be assigned to a committee or may serve solely in an advisory role. Head delegates assigned to a committee should observe the delegate code of conduct. Those not assigned to a particular committee should interact with delegates as would a faculty advisor.

FACULTY |

The role of faculty, while at the conference, is to make all efforts to see that their students maintain a positive and professional approach to the conference. The educational quality of the conference is primarily dependent on all delegates’ active and professional participation. Faculty can ensure this by monitoring their students’ attendance at committee meetings, and helping them in understanding the skills of diplomacy as practiced at the National Model UN conference. Faculty advisors must maintain the highest level of professionalism toward all conference participants and staff.

During the conference, faculty are encouraged to advise students on specific questions such as a state’s policy or issues of international law, but must not participate in the actual writing of resolutions or caucusing activities. The NMUN conference allows students an opportunity to demonstrate their preparation and research skills. While faculty members are encouraged to observe their students from the back of committee rooms, participation in the committee process must be left to the student delegates and the conference staff.

Faculty members are expected to:

- Provide leadership to their delegates and to other delegations by serving as information resources, where appropriate.
- Respond to questions and concerns without interfering with the work of the committees or the deliberations of delegates, whether in formal session or in caucus.
- Refrain from using academic credit and grading policies that force participation beyond that country’s normal position in the UN.
- Remind their delegates of the educational purpose of the simulation. Awards should not be a delegation’s main emphasis.
- Attend and participate in faculty meetings.
- Offer suggestions and assistance to new faculty members.

CODE | conduct

PROCEDURE FOR ADDRESSING CODE OF CONDUCT VIOLATIONS |

Delegates are encouraged to enjoy the variety of nighttime activities available in New York. NMUN asks, however, that delegates bear in mind that the purpose of their being here is to participate in NMUN.

To protect the reputations of the Conference, its sponsor organization the National Collegiate Conference Association (NCCA), and participating schools and delegates, NMUN has devised the following system for addressing alleged Code of Conduct violations after soliciting feedback from faculty advisors at the 2007 NMUN. The system is modeled on international football (U.S. soccer) where warnings (yellow cards) are issued for minor infractions and continued infractions or more serious allegations may result in investigations leading to ejection (red cards).

A. Moderate Misbehavior

1. Minor violations of the Code of Conduct, such as excessive noise or undiplomatic behavior, shall be considered moderate misbehavior and eligible for a Yellow Card warning.
2. In the event that a complaint regarding moderate misbehavior is brought to the attention of hotel staff they shall notify the appropriate guest(s) of the nature of the complaint and inform the designated NCCA official. This notification shall serve as a warning.
3. If the moderate misbehavior persists then the designated NCCA official shall contact the designated faculty advisor from the school involved and take appropriate action, including the issuance of a Yellow Card.
4. A Yellow Card shall result in the deduction of award points and serve as a warning that repeated inappropriate behavior shall result in a declaration of ineligibility for any Conference award.
5. If the inappropriate behavior continues or recurs on a subsequent day the hotel shall notify the designated NCCA official who may furnish the hotel with the contact information for the Dean of Student Affairs or other appropriate official of the organization in question. Should the hotel notify the designated NCCA official of such an action then the delegation involved shall immediately be disqualified from receiving an award.

B. Serious Misbehavior

1. In the event of serious misbehavior, behavior rising to a level where eviction is appropriate such as criminal misbehavior, the hotel shall notify the designated NCCA official immediately.
2. The designated NCCA official(s) shall immediately notify the delegation's designated faculty advisor of the nature of the misbehavior and inform them that unless the allegation is disproved, the Dean of Student Affairs or other appropriate official will be notified and a Red Card issued.
3. Any delegate who receives a Red Card must depart the Conference within four hours except if the misbehavior takes place after 6:00 PM in which case the delegate must depart by 9:00 AM.

The issuance of a Red Card shall result in the immediate disqualification of the delegation from eligibility for any Conference award and the possible suspension of participation in the Conference for subsequent years.

“As a global citizen, to whom do I pledge allegiance?”

NYU'S CENTER FOR GLOBAL AFFAIRS

The traditional state-to-state mindset may be at odds with the realities of our increasingly globalized planet.

Today, both an appreciation of the world's great challenges and the ability to create meaningful change require global perspective. Our duty as citizens of the world is to be more broadly educated and more resolutely committed to action than ever before. The NYU Center for Global Affairs is a unique institution based in lower Manhattan, at the crossroads of the world. We provide a range of exceptional educational opportunities, including a Master's degree, a professional certificate program, and provocative public events all focused on global issues and designed to confront the challenges each of us faces as a global citizen. Our diverse and motivated students are led by a faculty of accomplished international practitioners with experience drawn from government, trade, finance, journalism, non-governmental organizations, and more. Careers with a global dimension have never been more challenging, rewarding, or in demand. Find out how the NYU Center for Global Affairs can shape your global future.

NEW YORK CITY | getting around

The conference format affords participants the opportunity to meet students and faculty from around the world and diplomats and other professionals from within the UN and the international community. In addition, our New York City location offers students and faculty access to some of the world's most acclaimed museums and galleries, libraries, restaurants, shows, nightlife, and shops.

Most conference sessions will be held at the conference host hotels (Sheraton New York and Marriott Marquis Hotel). Both are located in New York's acclaimed Times Square area, surrounded by major media and business headquarters. Many of America's largest corporations maintain offices in the skyscrapers around the hotel.

CRIME AND NY:

The past several years have seen a drastic reduction in crime throughout the city. Nevertheless, participants are warned to remain vigilant when leaving the conference confines. Even when walking near the hotel, you should remove your conference badges and travel in groups. The NMUN staff asks that you use your head as much outside of your committees as you will inside them. (For additional safety tips, see page 50 of this program.)

LMU Munich –
one of Europe's leading research universities with over 500 years of tradition

LMU Munich is a genuine "universitas" with a classical academic profile covering all areas of knowledge and offering, for example, individualized degree programs and various opportunities for interdisciplinary cooperation in political and social sciences.

- Geschwister Scholl Institute for Political Science (GSI) – one of Germany's most prestigious academic institutes with a strong focus on political theory and philosophy, governance and European studies
- Center for Applied Policy Research (C·A·P) – Germany's largest university-based institution for political consulting on European and international issues
- Munich Center on Governance, Communication, Public Policy and Law (MCG)

We put our faith in imagination, open minds and creative intelligence. Apply to LMU Munich.

Imagine how

National Model United Nations is the world’s largest college-level conference of its kind. We bring together 4,000 students from across the globe to address a wide range of contemporary international issues. Participants leave with the insights needed to become better global citizens and the next generation of international leaders. Students develop an appreciation of differing viewpoints, the frustration of negotiation, the rewards of cooperation, and a broader view of the human side of international relations and diplomacy.
