THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

MESSAGE TO NATIONAL MODEL UNITED NATIONS CONFERENCE

New York, 17 – 23 April 2011

Congratulations on taking part in the National Model United Nations. This experience will give you a full taste of the complexity of international relations -- the intricacies of negotiating among diverse peoples and perspectives, the challenges of achieving consensus, the patience required to win progress. These skills will help you in whatever course you choose in life.

I trust you have all heard the saying, “united we stand, divided we fall”. That adage captures this moment in international affairs. No single country or group, no matter how powerful, can take on the major issues of the day alone. In an era when challenges spill over borders and have global reach, our future depends on how well we work together.

We must unite to overcome climate change, and create a greener, more sustainable world for all. We must work in unison to defeat extreme poverty and build a more just and prosperous world. And we must stand up for human beings in crisis -- people caught up in war or disasters, or those whose fundamental rights are being infringed.

You are an important part of the solution. The world needs your active engagement. I urge you to use the knowledge and skills you gain from this Model UN and other pursuits to advance the objectives of the United Nations. After all, you will soon be the government officials who will negotiate peace... the community leaders who will help feed and shelter the vulnerable ... the entrepreneurs and innovators who will get carbon emissions under control ... the lawyers and human rights defenders who will fight injustice, impunity and intolerance.

But, of course, your influence is already making a difference. Recent events around the world demonstrate once again the power of young people to take the initiative and turn the tides of history. Technology, awareness, activism and a commitment to social justice are all combining to provide young people with a voice like never before. The world must take account of those voices and the legitimate aspirations of young people everywhere for opportunity and dignity.

Please keep working with us, pushing us and inspiring us. Above all, help shape our world for the better; help us meet the collective tests of our times; and help the United Nations deliver what the world needs at this crucial moment. Please accept my best wishes for a rewarding Model UN.

Ban Ki-moon

Spring 2011

Dear Honorable Delegates, Advisors, Staff and Friends,

On behalf of the Volunteer Secretariat for the 2011 National Model United Nations Conference, I warmly welcome you to New York City. Over the past year, the NMUN Secretariat and our sponsor, the National Collegiate Conference Association (NCCA), have enthusiastically prepared for your arrival. We take tremendous pride in facilitating an educational experience unlike any other where delegates with diverse backgrounds, interests, and nationalities have the opportunity to develop new friendships, new ideas, and new ways of addressing the world's problems.

Participation in this simulation represents a unique opportunity for delegates, advisors and staff alike. As you gather together in the spirit of cooperation with over 5,000 college and university students from five continents, we encourage each one of you to ignite in each other the passion for building a stronger international community that is the basis for the work of the United Nations.

We look forward to hearing constructive debate on the most pressing issues and challenges facing our global community as you expertly represent your Member State, Observer State or NGO. Diplomacy, respect, and acceptance, as in the real UN, must be the foundation of our week together. Building consensus through negotiation, deliberation and compromise is the cornerstone of our mission. Together, our diverse points of view can formulate responses to the challenges discussed.

Without doubt, your preparations have equipped you for the simulation. The numerous topics to be discussed are of increasing relevance to our global community. The scale of need is profound. Poverty, health, equality, democracy, climate change, peace, security, trade and education present challenges that spill across borders. As fundamental changes happen in the Middle East, we witness how powerful the voice of the people can be. In Japan, we see the power of nature and limits of mankind. The premise of the United Nations is that peaceful cooperation is the best way to master our common future. The world expects much from the UN; it is our common responsibility to be more than just spectators. We must raise global awareness about the challenges ahead and the mission of the organization.

I call on each of you to think and work deliberately in writing resolutions and working papers, to respect and accept each other and the positions you represent, and to act thoughtfully on the issues discussed – both during this week and long after the conference concludes. While there are many hurdles to ending widespread poverty and securing peace and stability, the history of the United Nations proves that, collectively, we can achieve great things.

Once again, I welcome you to the 2011 National Model United Nations Conference. I know this event will be an enriching and wonderful educational experience. As you depart New York City at the end of our week together, I hope you return home with a renewed sense of purpose and a true appreciation for what it means to be a global citizen.

Genießen Sie die Konferenz! Enjoy the conference!

The Organization and Its Work

For more than 40 years, the National Collegiate Conference Association has sponsored experience-based educational programs like NMUN that further the understanding of the United Nations and contemporary international problems.

NMUN•NY 2011 will bring more than 5,000 delegates from five continents to New York City. This conference includes more than 20 committees as well as a Security Council for unaffiliated delegates. Prominent past speakers have included Susan E. Rice, Hillary Clinton, Michael Ignatieff and UN Secretaries-General Ban Ki-moon and Kofi Annan.

NMUN offers a unique opportunity for students to better understand the inner workings of the United Nations while building skills in diplomacy and compromise. College students and advisors from all over the world work feverishly to propose resolutions addressing regional conflicts, peacekeeping, human rights, women and children, economic and social development, and the environment. A diverse group of informed participants is given a forum in which to discuss global concerns in a context that closely parallels the "real world." The NMUN Conference is one of the most effective tools for teaching students the dynamics of multilateral diplomacy and international relations.

NMUN holds successful annual conferences in New York City and Washington, DC. We have achieved ground-breaking milestones through international conferences. Simulations in the past three years have been held in Xi'an, China, Quito, Ecuador and Olomouc, Czech Republic. Thank you to our partner organizations for their vision and support of our mission - Osgood Center for International Studies, Northwestern Polytechnical University, Palacký University and Universidad San Francisco de Quito. We look forward to future conference partnerships and welcome your inquiry into potential opportunities.

The National Collegiate Conference Association (NCCA) is a 501(c)3 nonprofit, educational corporation. The NCCA is also a Non-Governmental Organization associated with the United Nations Department of Public Information.

In this second edition, Linda Fasulo, a longtime independent correspondent for NPR, provides a lively, comprehensive, and authoritative guide to the United Nations, featuring candid insights from leading US and UN diplomats and officials.

"Fasulo brings to the fore the issues and controversies that surround today's United Nations, adeptly simplifying without dumbing down."
—Ambassador Joseph H. Melrose, Jr., former President, Board of Directors, National Model UN

"Linda Fasulo's book will become the indispensable source on the United Nations for everyone from students to diplomats. I keep it handy on my desk."
—Joseph S. Nye, Kennedy School of Government, Harvard University

"An excellent introduction to the work of the U.N. and a valuable tool for anyone who wants to understand the complexities of the Organization in a clear and highly readable style."
—Heraldo Munoz, Ambassador of Chile to the United Nations

Quito

Cradle of culture and colonial treasures

As part from its 32 years as first UNESCO World Cultural Heritage Site, Quito was declared the 2011 Cultural Capital of the Americas by the International Bureau of Cultural Capitals (IBOCC).

This distinction not only gives Quito regional importance, but grants the city worldwide recognition, helping to showcase, for locals and visitors alike, the treasures that have made this cosmopolitan urban center a worthy American Cultural Capital.

One of Quito's main highlights is its Historic downtown, a living artistic gem that within 320 hectares (790 acres) gathers a total 130 monuments and 5,000 landmark buildings, making it a city of undisputed cultural wealth and preservation.

Squares, theaters, cultural centers, among other meeting places and performance venues, provide ample opportunities to enjoy a significant array of events, putting in evidence the rich cultural diversity that keeps every corner of the capital alive. Quito is admired throughout the world for its fascinating cultural heritage and human history.

The Master of Arts in Global Development and Peace

As the world becomes more dynamic and complex, there is an increasing demand for individuals who are prepared to navigate relationships on a global level. The University of Bridgeport's new Master of Arts in Global Development and Peace does just this by preparing future civil leaders and business professionals for careers in diplomacy, foreign affairs and global management. UB's program gives its students access to internships and career opportunities in places like the United Nations, the World Bank, and think tanks in Washington D.C.

If you want to make a difference in the world around you and are serious about pursuing a career in international relations, UB's Master of Arts in Global Development and Peace will prepare you with its intensive program. Evening schedules are available, and UB also offers a variety of scholarship opportunities.

The National Collegiate Conference Association (NCCA) prepares college students to be better global citizens. These experiences are valuable for student delegates and advisors. However, financial constraints often are a barrier to participation for both student participants and volunteer staff members. Thanks to our donors, listed below, we are able to reduce some financial barriers.

We invite contributions from individuals and foundations. For U.S. residents, your donation is tax deductible as a charitable contribution. The NCCA is a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization and a non-governmental organization of the United Nations. Visit nmun.org to learn more online.

NMUN needs volunteer staff to research topics, facilitate committees and help to organize the conference. NMUN offers training, provides New York hotel accommodations and helps pay for travel expenses (based on zones).

WHY VOLUNTEER?

- Build your résumé! – We offer publishing credit for the written background materials and professional experience organizing and staffing the world’s largest university-level simulation of the United Nations.
- Build skills in facilitation of debate, conflict resolution, and customer service while learning alongside delegates about emerging global issues.
- Form lifelong friendships with other volunteers.

WHO VOLUNTEERS?

We seek enthusiastic NMUN alumni from around the world willing to help organize future NMUNs. Many staff members are current undergraduate or graduate students.

Be part of an international volunteer staff committed to the ideals of the United Nations!

Serving as a volunteer staff member for National Model United Nations is an unparalleled opportunity to directly support a challenging and meaningful learning experience for all NMUN delegates. The skills developed as a staff member, including writing, research, and public speaking, have been central to success in both my professional and academic life. Becoming experienced as a facilitator, educator, and leader through my role as an Assistant Director, Director and now an Under-Secretary-General has allowed me to excel in my current job undertaking advocacy work at the UN Headquarters in New York City. Serving as a volunteer staffer allows me to work with an incredible group of individuals from every corner of the world, with diverse and unique backgrounds. The overall staff experience, which includes networking, skill-building, and the opportunity to support the engagement of students in international affairs is invaluable. NMUN has played a major role in my ability to translate my goals and dreams of a career in international affairs into reality.

AMERICAN MODEL UNITED NATIONS IT’S YOUR WORLD: MAKE A DIFFERENCE

Join us in our new hotel for the 22nd Annual AMUN

*Please enjoy the 2011 NMUN conference.
Best wishes from our conference to yours.*

Model UN in a Box:

Our simulation kit provides tools for Faculty Advisors and student leaders to teach others about the Model UN experience. This includes details on how to run a class, write resolutions, caucusing exercises, and more. This kit provides all the materials you need to simulate the General Assembly, the Economic and Social Council, and the Security Council.

United Nations DVD Series:

In conjunction with the Ambassador’s Club at the United Nations, AMUN is proud to offer five different videos on the internal workings of the United Nations. Discover the UN anew with interviews from ambassadors and secretariat members. Our first DVD deals with the mechanics of UN diplomacy. Our other DVDs take an in-depth look at some of the issues the UN faces every year. These educational DVDs are great for the classroom too.

Basic Facts about the United Nations

This handbook is an invaluable guide to the United Nations. Along with explaining the role played by the United Nations' principal organs and its family of organizations, this book explores UN contributions to international peace and security; economic and social development; human rights; humanitarian action; international law; and decolonization. A series of appendices documents UN membership, peacekeeping operations, budget, and contact information for UN information centres, services and offices. This new and completely revised edition includes the most significant developments that have taken place in the world and at the United Nations since the last edition (previously titled The UN Today) in 2008. A must-read for anyone interested in understanding what the United Nations does and how it works.

recognizing commitment

NMUN-NY

RECOGNIZING COMMITMENT TO THE NATIONAL MODEL UNITED NATIONS

Here we recognize those institutions for which participation is a school tradition. The long-term support of these schools reflects the hard work and dedication of advisors, students and administrators. It shows commitment to experiential learning opportunities like NMUN as well as the ideals embodied by the United Nations.

The NCCA, sponsor of the NMUN, is greatly indebted to many of these schools and their advisors for their leadership in continuing to enhance the conference.

We look forward to welcoming more schools to this listing in the future as new institutions start a NMUN tradition and returning schools continue to build a legacy.

AWARDS PHILOSOPHY

The Secretariat selects recipients based on the criteria and methodology outlined below. No one can observe every action in committee or truly judge an individual's learning and growth. We believe participation in the simulation is its own reward. It advances understanding of the UN and contemporary international issues, and it has changed the lives of many delegates. We urge all delegates and their advisors to maintain an appropriate perspective regarding the awards. The fundamental basis of the simulation is collaboration and cooperation among nations, which includes working together through multilateral diplomacy. There are, therefore, no winners and certainly no losers in this process.

DELEGATION AWARDS

National Model United Nations has established criteria for evaluating delegate performance. Each element is equally important to the overall awards determination process. All committees are weighted equally, and delegations are rated on a mathematical formula in relation to the total number of committees represented by the individual member state.

Areas of evaluation are:

- Remaining in character – defined as advocating your assigned country's position in a manner consistent with economic, social and geopolitical constraints.
- Participating in committee – evaluated both during formal sessions and caucusing.
- Proper use of the rules of procedure – NMUN uses the rules of procedure to facilitate effective workings of committee and debate.

COMMITTEE AWARDS

In addition to overall delegation awards, individual committee awards are given with balloting by delegate peers. When voting, NMUN asks delegates to keep in mind that the conference believes outstanding delegates are those who cooperate and stay in the policy/character of their assigned member state. Yelling, standing on chairs and other examples of unprofessional behavior are not characteristics of diplomats. Recipients will be announced at the final committee session.

POSITION PAPER AWARDS

Additionally, NMUN presents Position Paper Awards in recognition of outstanding pre-conference preparation.

A full description of criteria are available at nmun.org.

CONFERENCE SERVICES PROCEDURE

1. A maximum of two delegates will be allowed in Conference Services to work on each resolution at any one time. Delegates are expected to write their resolutions outside of the lab, and bring them in for typing or revision.

NOTE: Delegates are generally seated on a first-come, first-served basis. Delegates from committees not already working at a computer in the lab will be given preference when the lab is full. The USG for Conference Services reserves the authority to grant an earlier place in line to a delegate.
2. There will be no food and/or beverages allowed in Conference Services.
3. Internet resources are only for research use. Delegates will not be permitted to check their e-mail.
4. Delegates entering Conference Services must register at the door and leave their delegate badge in order to use the computers. Once a delegate has finished typing, s/he should print and save the resolution according to the posted guidelines. Delegates will then be able to retrieve their delegate badges on the way out.
5. Photocopies will be made for the delegates at a charge of $.10 per copy. Working papers and resolutions approved by the Director of the committee will be copied free of charge.

COMPUTERS IN COMMITTEE

While laptop computers are allowed in committee during informal session, their use during formal session (when delegates are speaking) should be limited to the hallway (or the back of the room in large rooms). The spirit of this policy is to avoid disruption of and show respect for the speaker.

CHANGES TO SPEAKERS TIME

Speakers time is set on the first night to 2 minutes (except General Assembly / full-size bodies where it is 90 seconds due to size and number of speeches). No motions to change the time on the first night will be accepted.

No unsolicited motions on speaking time will be accepted during the rest of the week. If members feel that the time needs to be changed to improve flow of debate or hear more speeches, they should approach the dais – and if the chair agrees, the chair will call for a motion. No motions will be taken from the floor.

SEXUAL HARASSMENT & DISCRIMINATION POLICY

It is the intention of the NCCA that the environment of National Model United Nations supports our educational goal. The NCCA will not tolerate any instances of discrimination based on race, color, sex, sexual orientation, national origin, religion, age or handicapping condition. If any delegate, staff or advisor believes they have encountered discrimination, which results in a hostile working environment or disparate treatment, they must bring it to the attention of the Secretary-General of the conference. In the event that this is not possible, they must bring it to the attention of the NCCA. The Secretary-General and a member or members of the NCCA Board must investigate the merits of the allegations, interviewing all parties involved.

Based on the investigation findings, NMUN may:

- take no action
- issue a verbal reprimand
- separate the individual from the conference
- implement any other action deemed appropriate

DRESS CODE

All clothing must adhere to guidelines that portray professionalism and modesty. If a delegate's attire is deemed inappropriate by NMUN staff, the delegate will be asked to leave the session and return with appropriate attire.

- Standard delegate attire for the conference is business jacket, slacks (or skirts for women), dress shirt (with tie for men) and dress shoes.
- Dress sweaters, shorts, ball caps, jeans, sneakers and sunglasses are considered too casual. Clothes that expose excessive bare skin or are otherwise revealing are inappropriate.
- It is not appropriate for delegates to display any national symbols such as flags, pins, crests, etc. on their person during sessions. UN symbols are acceptable.

Western business dress is preferred. Traditional dress is only permitted for international delegates in whose native countries "professional business dress" includes traditional cultural dress. NMUN will not tolerate any delegate's attempt to portray a "character" using traditional cultural attire as a costume.

As role models for delegates, volunteer staff, advisors and guests are required to dress in western business attire while participating in scheduled conference sessions.

TRAVEL & SAFETY TIPS – NATIONAL MODEL UN VERSION • NY

1. Do not wear your delegate badges outside of the hotel or the UN. They are a sign that you're a tourist and that you are potentially vulnerable.
2. New York City is generally safe, but you should avoid flashing cash at an ATM machine or on the street, being alone in an elevator with someone you feel uncomfortable with (start a conversation and make eye contact so they know you will recognize their face), and sitting or standing in a subway near the doors where you are more vulnerable to theft.
3. Hair up in a ponytail can be a handle pulled by an assailant. If needing to defend yourself, use an elbow (strongest bone) or pinch the tricep (painful).
4. Your delegation should arrange for a meeting place outside of and away from the hotel in the event of an emergency. Consider carrying a small flashlight. Develop a telephone tree (calling list) using cell phone numbers so that you can inform others in your group of a problem.
5. Be aware of your surroundings and be alert. People talking on cell phones or listening to iPods are more frequently attacked because they are unaware of what is happening around them.
6. If someone attempts to rob you by asking for your wallet do not hand it to them. Instead toss it away from you and run. The chances are that they will be more interested in the money than chasing you.
7. If you bring a computer, remember you are responsible for its security.
8. In the hotel, make sure you know where the exits are on your floor in the event of a fire or another emergency. In the event of a fire, do not panic. Follow these steps:
  - Do not use any elevator in a fire;
  - Call the front desk and tell them what is going on;
  - Call 911 and report the fire even if you are able to contact the front desk;
  - If you cannot get out of your room, do not open the windows wide or break them. This could cause more smoke and fire to enter your room. Instead, open the windows a tiny bit if possible;
  - Seal cracks with wet towels and/or sheets from your room. Smoke inhalation kills more people than fire;
  - Do not jump out of the windows.
9. Do not drink alcohol excessively or at all. NMUN has strict rules regarding personal behavior. There is no drinking in committee sessions. The legal drinking age in New York is 21 years of age.
10. Remember that there are other non-NMUN guests in the hotel. NMUN neither sanctions nor will tolerate offensive behavior by delegates, e.g., partying in rooms/hallways/staircases, loud, crude, and obnoxious talk and behavior, etc. The NMUN has a long and proud history, and we value our relationship with our hotels and with the United Nations. We will ask you to leave the conference, and we will notify your college or university if your behavior is inappropriate.
11. Bring spending money. New York is an expensive city. Watch out for "Tourist Trap" stores and street sales, especially in Times Square. Remember to keep some cash in reserve in the event of an emergency.
12. Do have a good time. If you give yourself a chance, you will find this experience to be truly rewarding.
13. Do participate. NMUN is not an opportunity to 'shop until you drop' or a spring break vacation. Be on time for committee sessions and attend all of them. NMUN is potentially a life-changing experience. Take full advantage.

DELEGATES

While participating in the National Model UN conference, delegates have a responsibility to always maintain the highest level of professionalism and diplomacy. Conference staff, advisors, and fellow delegates should be treated with the highest level of courtesy and respect. Professionalism in speech, actions, and appearance by delegates is a requirement of this conference, and necessary to its educational mission. It is assumed that all delegates will respect the property of the United Nations and the host hotels.

NMUN reserves the right to restrict future registration for any participant or school, whose delegates or advisors are not able to uphold their responsibility to the conference's code of conduct.

Delegates are expected to:

- Remain "in character" by consistently advocating the interests and representing the policies of the country assigned. To act "in character" also entails displaying respect for the opinions and ideals of fellow delegates, even if these opinions and ideals conflict with a given delegate's own country priorities.
- Collaborate with fellow delegates when possible.
- Be courteous and professional at all times.

1. Please drink responsibly. Excessive alcohol consumption should be avoided. The US legal drinking age is 21.
2. The consumption of alcohol and other drugs in committee sessions is forbidden.
3. Any issues related to illicit drugs will be immediately directed to the attention of local authorities.
4. Delegates who disrupt committee sessions or create problems in the hotel may be barred from further participation in the conference.

Delegates are encouraged to enjoy the variety of nighttime activities available. Please bear in mind, however, the purpose of being here is participation in NMUN.

HEAD DELEGATES

Head delegates provide leadership to their delegates and to other delegations by serving as information resources. They should attend and participate in head delegate meetings. Head delegates may be assigned to a committee or may serve solely in an advisory role. Head delegates assigned to a committee should observe the delegate code of conduct. Those not assigned to a particular committee should interact with delegates as would a advisor.

See nmun.org for information on the procedure for addressing code of conduct violations.

ADVISORS

The role of advisors, while at the conference, is to make all efforts to see that their students maintain a positive and professional approach to the conference. The educational quality of the conference is primarily dependent on all delegates' active and professional participation. Advisors can ensure this by monitoring their students' attendance at committee meetings and helping them understand the skills of diplomacy as practiced at National Model United Nations. Advisors must maintain the highest level of professionalism toward all conference participants and staff.

During the conference, advisors are encouraged to advise students on specific questions such as a state's policy or issues of international law, but must not participate in the actual writing of resolutions or caucusing activities. NMUN allows students an opportunity to demonstrate their preparation and research skills. While advisors are encouraged to observe their students from the back of committee rooms, participation in the committee process must be left to the student delegates and the conference staff.

Advisors are expected to:

- Provide leadership to their delegates and to other delegations by serving as information resources when appropriate.
- Respond to questions and concerns without interfering with the work of the committees or the deliberations of delegates, whether in formal session or in caucus.
- Refrain from using academic credit and grading policies that force participation beyond that country's normal position in the UN.
- Remind their delegates of the educational purpose of the simulation. Awards should not be a delegation's main emphasis.
- Attend and participate in advisors meetings.
- Offer suggestions and assistance to new advisors.

Adoption of the Agenda	Approval of agenda order	None	Majority	Determines the order by which the topics will be discussed; Approved topic order = agenda

NATIONAL MODEL
UNITED NATIONS

Congratulations on a successful 2011
NMUN•NY

NMUN•NY brings together 5,000+ delegates from five continents. Our preeminent conference engages students in discussions of current global issues with the UN Headquarters providing an impressive backdrop.

2012 DATES: 1 - 5 April (Sheraton) and 3 - 7 April (Marriott)

NMUN•DC is held in the heart of the embassy district drawing delegates from all over the world. More than 400 students annually participate in discussions of issues at the forefront of international relations.

2011 DATES: 21 - 23 October

NMUN•Europe will be held in Lille, France in January of 2012. In recent years, NMUN has held sessions in China, Ecuador and the Czech Republic. Visit nmun.org for updated information on our next international conference in France.

NCCA-NMUN is proud to have the support of BWC for its NMUN•NY and NMUN•DC Conferences
