THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

MESSAGE TO THE NATIONAL MODEL UNITED NATIONS CONFERENCE
NMUN•NY 2014
New York, 30 March – 3 April 2014

Your participation in this Model UN comes at a time of opportunity and risk for the human family. We are the first generation that can end extreme poverty -- yet people and the planet face the rising pressures of a warming climate, growing inequality and exploitation from mines to fields to factory floor.

The United Nations works every day, around the clock, across the world, to confront today's emergencies while building foundations of peace for tomorrow. We are feeding the hungry, fighting disease and pressing for a nuclear-weapon-free world. We are strengthening peacekeeping, peacebuilding and preventive diplomacy as well as our tools for justice and accountability. Our sights are also set on the key year of 2015: the deadline for achieving the Millennium Development Goals, reaching an agreement on climate change and adopting a bold vision for the period beyond 2015 that will advance economic growth, social progress and environmental stewardship.

These plans are ambitious. We need people to make them real. That means you. I count on you to use the negotiating skills you learn in this Model UN exercise to help navigate the real-world challenges we face. I encourage you to join forces with like-minded individuals and groups to generate change and promote mutual tolerance, understanding and respect. I also hope you will link to the United Nations through our Twitter and Facebook accounts.

Technology has globalized communications. Now we have to globalize compassion and citizenship. In a world that is more connected, we must be more united. With our fates ever more entwined, our future must be one of ever deeper and wider cooperation. That is the global logic of our times.

I look forward to the contributions you will make to our shared work for peace, development and human rights. Please accept my best wishes for a memorable experience.

Ban Ki-Moon

Dear Delegates, Faculty, Staff and Friends,

On behalf of the volunteer Secretariat, I am delighted to welcome you to the National Model United Nations Conference and to New York City. We're honored by your participation and we look forward to working with you at the largest collegiate Model UN conference in the world.

Throughout the past year, we have eagerly prepared for your arrival alongside our sponsor, the National Collegiate Conference Association (NCCA). We take tremendous pride in facilitating an educational experience unlike any other. We are a diverse team of varied experiences and perspectives on the world that every year comes together with a shared common purpose: we are inspired by the work you have done and the work you will be doing at our conference.

Our theme for the conference this year is "Equality for a better world." Eleanor Roosevelt once said that universal human rights begin in the small places, in neighborhoods close to home and that "these are places where every man, woman and child seeks equal justice, equal opportunity, equal dignity without discrimination." It is my sincere hope that this idea will help to guide each of you as you research and explore solutions to the complex issues raised in each of your committees.

As thousands of us converge in New York City, you will have the opportunity to meet delegates with diverse backgrounds, interests, and nationalities. When the gavel first hits its base and you begin to transform months of preparation for this conference into expertly representing your Member State, Observer State or NGO, take advantage of this rare chance to engage in spirited debate on the most pressing issues facing our world. Challenge yourself and your fellow delegates to be creative and determined in order to build consensus through negotiation, deliberation and compromise.

Before you know it, you will be sitting in the closing ceremonies for our conference. This whirlwind week will be over at lightning speed. So take time to enjoy the experience, push yourself to expand your worldview and learn from your peers. This is how one week can be life-changing.

Thank you so much for your preparation and participation. Have a wonderful week!

Most sincerely,

Rachel Johnson
Secretary-General, 2014 National Model United Nations•NY Conference

The NCCA/NMUN is a Non-Governmental Organization associated with the United Nations and a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization of the United States.

For more than 45 years, the National Collegiate Conference Association (NCCA) has sponsored experience-based educational programs like NMUN that further the understanding of the United Nations and contemporary international problems.

NMUN•NY 2014 will bring more than 5,000 delegates from six continents to New York City. This conference includes 20 committees as well as two Additional Security Councils. Prominent past speakers have included Susan E. Rice, Dikembe Mutombo, Michael Ignatieff, and UN Secretaries-General Ban Ki-moon and Kofi Annan. NMUN offers a unique opportunity for students to better understand the inner workings of the United Nations while building skills in diplomacy and compromise. College and university students from all over the world work feverishly to propose resolutions addressing regional conflicts, peacekeeping, human rights, women and children, economic and social development, and the environment. A diverse group of informed participants is given a forum in which to discuss global concerns in a context that closely parallels the real world. The NMUN Conference is one of the most effective tools for teaching students the dynamics of multilateral diplomacy and international relations.

In the coming 12 months NMUN will hold conferences in New York City, Washington, DC and Rome, Italy. We have achieved groundbreaking milestones through our international conferences. Since 2008, international simulations have been held in China, Ecuador, the Czech Republic, France and the Republic of Korea. Thank you to our partner organizations for their vision and support of our mission — Osgood Center for International Studies, Consules, Yonsei University, Northwest Model United Nations, Northwestern Polytechnical University, Universidad San Francisco de Quito, Palacký University and Sciences Po Lille. We look forward to future conference partnerships and welcome your inquiry into potential opportunities.

The National Collegiate Conference Association (NCCA) is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit, educational organization. The NCCA is also a Non-Governmental Organization associated with the United Nations Department of Public Information, and a United Nations Academic Impact member.

The National Collegiate Conference Association (NCCA) prepares college students to be better global citizens. These experiences are valuable for student delegates and faculty advisors. However, financial constraints can be a barrier to participation. Thanks to our donors, listed below, we attempt to maintain an affordable cost of attendance. We invite contributions from individuals, corporations and foundations. For US residents, your donation is tax deductible as a charitable contribution. Here we recognize those institutions for which participation is a school tradition. The long-term support of these schools reflects the hard work and dedication of faculty advisors, students and administrators. It shows commitment to experiential learning opportunities like NMUN as well as the ideals embodied by the United Nations. The NCCA, sponsor of NMUN, is greatly indebted to many of these schools and their faculty advisors for their leadership in continuing to enhance the conference. We look forward to welcoming more schools to this listing in the future as new institutions start a NMUN tradition and returning schools continue to build a legacy.

DELEGATES

While participating in the National Model UN conference, delegates have a responsibility to always maintain the highest level of professionalism and diplomacy. Conference staff, faculty advisors, and fellow delegates should be treated with the highest level of courtesy and respect. Professionalism in speech, actions, and appearance by delegates is a requirement of this conference, and necessary to its educational mission. It is expected that all delegates will respect the property of the United Nations and our host hotels.

NMUN reserves the right to restrict future registration for any participant or school, whose delegates or faculty advisors are not able to uphold their responsibility to the conference's code of conduct.

Delegates are expected to:

- Remain "in character" by consistently advocating the interests and representing the policies of the country assigned. To act "in character" also entails displaying respect for the opinions and ideas of fellow delegates, even if these opinions and ideas conflict with a given delegate's own country's priorities.
- Collaborate with fellow delegates when possible.
- Be courteous and professional at all times.
- Attend all committee sessions.
- Avoid the consumption of alcohol and other drugs in committee sessions. Any issues related to illicit drugs will be immediately directed to the attention of local authorities.

Delegates who disrupt committee sessions or create problems in the hotel may be barred from further participation in the conference.

Delegates are encouraged to enjoy the variety of activities available at our conference venues. Please bear in mind, however, the purpose of being here is participation in NMUN and failure to attend committee sessions may result in your withdrawal from the conference.

If you are going to drink, please drink responsibly. Excessive alcohol consumption should be avoided. The US legal drinking age is 21.

HEAD DELEGATES

Head delegates provide leadership to their delegates and to other delegations by serving as information resources. They should attend and participate in head delegate meetings. Head delegates may be assigned to a committee or may serve solely in an advisory role. Head delegates assigned to a committee should observe the delegate code of conduct. Those not assigned to a particular committee should interact with delegates as would a faculty advisor.

FACULTY ADVISORS

The role of faculty advisors, while at the conference, is to make all efforts to see that their students maintain a positive and professional approach to the conference. The educational quality of the conference is primarily dependent on the active and professional participation of all delegates. Faculty advisors can ensure this by monitoring the attendance of their students at committee meetings and helping them understand the skills of diplomacy as practiced at National Model United Nations. Faculty advisors must maintain the highest level of professionalism toward all conference participants and staff.

During the conference, faculty advisors are encouraged to advise students on specific questions such as a state's policy or issues of international law, but must not participate in the actual writing of resolutions or caucusing activities. NMUN allows students an opportunity to demonstrate their preparation and research skills. While faculty advisors are encouraged to observe their students from the back of committee rooms, participation in the committee process must be left to the student delegates and the conference staff.

Faculty Advisors are expected to:

- Provide leadership to their delegates and to other delegations by serving as information resources when appropriate.
- Respond to questions and concerns without interfering with the work of the committees or the deliberations of delegates, whether in formal session or in caucus.
- Refrain from using academic credit and grading policies that force participation beyond that country's normal position in the UN.
- Remind their delegates of the educational purpose of the simulation. Awards should not be a delegation's main emphasis.
- Attend and participate in faculty advisors meetings.
- Offer suggestions and assistance to new faculty advisors.

DRESS CODE

All clothing must adhere to guidelines that portray professionalism and modesty. If a delegate's attire is deemed inappropriate by NMUN staff, the delegate will be asked to leave the session and return with appropriate attire.

- Standard delegate attire for the conference is business jacket, slacks/skirt, dress shirt (with tie for men) and dress shoes.
- Dress sweaters, shorts, ball caps, jeans, sneakers and sunglasses are considered too casual. Clothes that expose excessive bare skin or are otherwise revealing are inappropriate.
- It is not appropriate for delegates to display any national symbols such as flags, pins, crests, etc. on their person during sessions. UN symbols are acceptable.

Western business dress is preferred. Traditional dress is only permitted for international delegates in whose native countries "professional business dress" includes traditional cultural dress. NMUN will not tolerate any delegate's attempt to portray a "character" using traditional cultural attire as costume.

As role models for delegates, volunteer staff, faculty advisors and guests are required to dress in western business attire while participating in scheduled conference sessions.

SEXUAL HARASSMENT / DISCRIMINATION POLICY

It is the intention of the NCCA that the environment of National Model United Nations supports our educational goal. The organizers will not tolerate any instances of discrimination based on race, color, sex, sexual orientation, national origin, religion, age or disability.

If any delegate, staff or faculty advisor believes they have encountered discrimination, which results in a hostile working environment or disparate treatment, they must bring it to the attention of the Secretary-General of the conference. In the event that this is not possible, they must bring it to the attention of the organizers. The NCCA will investigate the merits of the allegations, interviewing all parties involved.

Based on the findings, organizers may:

- take no action
- issue a verbal reprimand
- separate the individual from the conference
- implement any other action deemed appropriate

See nmun.org/policies\_codes.html for information on the procedure for addressing code of conduct violations.

Delegation Awards

National Model United Nations has established criteria for evaluating delegate performance. Each element is equally important to the overall awards determination process. All committees are weighted equally, and delegations are rated on a mathematical formula in relation to the total number of committees represented by the individual Member State.

Areas of evaluation are:

- Remaining in character – defined as advocating your assigned country's position in a manner consistent with economic, social and geopolitical constraints.
- Participating in committee – evaluated both during formal sessions and caucusing.
- Proper use of the rules of procedure – NMUN uses the rules of procedure to facilitate effective workings of committee and debate.
