The session was attended by representatives of fifteen Member States of the United Nations.

On Sunday, the committee adopted the agenda of I, III, II, beginning discussion on the topic of the Situation in Iraq. By Tuesday afternoon, the Dais received a total of seven proposals covering a wide range of sub-topics: adding to the mandate for the United Nations Assistance Mission for Iraq, assuring humanitarian assistance to refugees, referring the situation to the International Criminal Court, aiding the economic reform of Iraq, and improving the training of the Iraqi Security Forces. The body passionately sought a diverse range of topics so as to comprehensively resolve the conflict.

On Tuesday evening, the body immediately amended the agenda to move into addressing a crisis in South Sudan. Wednesday morning, three draft resolutions were approved by the Dais after the withdrawal of a draft Press Statement. The committee adopted two resolutions following voting procedure, both of which received unanimous support by the body. The resolutions represented a wide range of issues including calling for a ceasefire and supporting the UN Mission in South Sudan.

After voting, the committee moved back into the Situation in Iraq and continued working diligently on working papers. During the final session, six draft resolutions were approved by the Dais. Four resolutions were adopted by the body, one of which was adopted by consensus. The work of the Council was formed through extensive multilateral negotiations and resulted in exemplary actions by the committee.
